The SoyGreen mattress by Magniflex is part of the company's GeoEthic line. Magniflex, an Italian company used soy as the principal ingredient due to it's natural make up.

As a fiber, soy is composed of long strands of amino acids, the same that produce the enzymes that are essential for the body's well-being. It follows then that the Soygreen covering, entirely treated with microcapsules of soy protein, emits these beneficial properties during sleep for the entire body's benefit.

The internal structure of the Soygreen mattress is Ecogreen. Grooved on both sides of the mattress, with deep-set channels, this unique core allows for increased air circulation throughout the mattress, assuring that you sleep in your most comfortable position and in a dry and hygienic environment.

Getting a good night's rest and doing it naturally. Is there really anything better?
